[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Railroad War—Great Reduction of Rates on the Baltimore & Ohio R R

PHILADELPHIA Feb 16—Thos Scott president of the Pennsylvania Railway Company has written a letter to President Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway in which after accusing Garrett of demagoguism and bad faith in his action in regard to rates, he says So far as this company is concerned you may rely upon it that we will protect the business of Philadelphia and place Baltimore New York and other points accessible by our lines on an equitable and fair business basis in all matters relating to transportation over our own road. While we desire to moderate rates for service performed believing that it is best for the public and for owners of railway property that this should be the case we shall always be ready to take care of our own share of business of the country with rates and facilities equal to those of any other company and line from Washington and Baltimore and from New York over our own road. They shall be made quite as perfect for the convenience of the public from this date as they have been at any time in the past. There shall be no inconvenience whatever to the public by reason of your effort to destroy railroad property of any other line. The Northern and Central Railway Co will during the present year perfect its terminal facilities at Baltimore so as to place it then in full equality with others on the seaboard and it will be the duty and interest of the company, whose line terminates there to give to Baltimore a line in every respect equal both as to rates and facilities to any that the Baltimore and Ohio will be able to offer

PHILADELPHIA Feb. 16—The letter of Tom Scott to President Garrett of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway was in reply to a dispatch received from the latter in which Garrett says he had been informed that the Pennsylvania company intends to deprive the Baltimore and Ohio road of the convenient use of the Pennsylvania line by withdrawing through passenger tickets from their offices in New York and New England and prohibiting freight cars of the Baltimore and Ohio passing over the Pennsylvania company's track in Philadelphia. Garrett says if this is true the Baltimore and Ohio company will adopt such measures in reference to passenger rates and otherwise as will vindicate its ability to maintain its rights and secure just and equitable relations for its business to all proper points.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16—There seems no present prospect of reconciliation between the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania Central R. R. companies. President Garrett says Scott's letter of to-day is a tissue of gross misrepresentations. The Baltimore and Ohio company have issued orders for an immense reduction of passenger rates between Washington and Baltimore and Philadelphia and leading Western cities. The fare from Chicago and Cincinnati to Baltimore and Washington is reduced to $9 from St. Louis to these cities $15, from Louisville $12 etc. Similar reductions have been made between Western cities and Philadelphia. It is understood that the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Co are arranging for a line of first class freight steamships to run between New York and Baltimore. All its western connections have telegraphed the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Co that they will cheerfully co-operate in its policy as long as the Pennsylvania Railway Co continue to obstruct business to Philadelphia and New York

The Southern Pacific Railroad.

WASHINGTON Feb 16—Senators Hager and Stewart, as sub-committee of the Senate committee on railroads, met Senator Sargent and the California members of the House of Representatives to-day to exchange views and harmonize if possible on a bill authorizing change of route of the Southern Pacific Railroad. General Colton present, said the company were satisfied with the bill as modified by Houghton a few days ago and telegraphed Saturday. No conclusive agreement except as to the question whether lands on fragmentary or completed sections of the line which is to be abandoned shall like others on the abandoned route be open to purchase by settlers at $1 25 per acre.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb 16—In the Senate the credentials of A H Paddock U S Senator from Nebraska were read and placed on file

Ferry of Michigan from the committee on finance reported with an amendment in the nature of a substitute House bill restricting the duties of custom house duties, and prescribing certain regulations for the treasury department. Placed on the calendar

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate resumed consideration of the resolution for the admission of Pinchback, and Sargent continued his argument.

The Judiciary committee having been directed to report what is the meaning and extent of the so called press gag law of June 1874 submitted a report expressing the opinion that said act is not obnoxious to any criticism, and that it [illegible] to the crime of libel it confers upon [illegible] either to bring persons charged with libel into the District of Columbia, or to send them out of it. The report is signed by Edmunds, Conkling, Frelinghuysen, Wright, Thurman and Stevens.

The report of the Senate committee on the judiciary on the so called press gag law is signed by [illegible] members of the committee and takes ground that a person charged with libel can be brought into the District of Columbia under the law, [illegible] no person can be brought there under it for any crime whatever and it is equally [illegible] a person charged with the crime of libel in any district or place in the United States can be arrested and sent to such district or place under it [illegible] libel is not a crime against the law of the United States in any of the states so that no case could arise in which a court or judge in the District of Columbia could be called upon to [illegible] and send him to any State for trial. [illegible] the committee are of opinion that both sections of [illegible] are necessary, proper and in perfect accord with the principles of justice and the correct [illegible] jurisprudence.

The committee on foreign affairs have substantially agreed to the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty though [illegible] formal vote has been taken and action was [illegible] on some details. Unless there should be time to act on the treaty before adjournment there will be an extra session called for the 4th of March, but [illegible] for a few days only

The following bills were introduced and referred

By Mitchell to provide for extension of time for the survey and location of the [illegible] Salt Lake railroad [illegible] payment of [illegible] the bonds of the State [illegible]

WASHINGTON Feb 16—The Senate returned from the funeral of Hooper, and adjourned till to-morrow

WASHINGTON Feb 16—The House met at eleven o'clock and proceeded with the regular order of business. Dawes moved to go into committee of the whole on the tariff bill. Rejected 101 [illegible]

Garfield reported the sundry civil appropriation bill after which a general bill was introduced. At 1 o'clock the bill for the reorganization of the Treasury Department was taken up in committee of the whole

The sundry civil appropriation bill reported by the House to-day appropriates $ [illegible] for engraving and printing certificates of indebtedness [illegible] the [illegible] $ [illegible] for the executive department and the Smithsonian Institute to participate in the exhibition and it repeals the proviso that the sums hereby appropriated shall cover the entire expenses to which the United States shall be subjected on account of the exposition

In the House to the bill reorganizing the Treasury Department Young offered an amendment requiring appointments of the Department to be distributed among the States and Territories in proportion to population. Agreed to and bill passed

Tucker from the postoffice committee reported the annual post route bill which passed

Myers introduced a bill to return to the government of Japan one half of the indemnity fund paid by it to the United States under convention of October [illegible] 1864, and to dispose of the balance of said fund. Referred to the committee on foreign affairs. The bill provides—1st. For the return to Japan of $[illegible] with interest [illegible] for the officers and crew of the Wyoming [illegible] out of the balance of the fund for services in the battle at the Straits of Simonoseki which resulted in a treaty, [illegible] That $800 000 registered bonds, in which half the fund is invested shall remain under control of the Secretary of State, the interest to be paid by him for the education of a limited number of American and Japanese, youths in the languages of either country, to serve as interpreters and assistants to legations and consulates of the United States [illegible] The balance of the fund is covered into the treasury of the United States

Sawyer from committee on commerce reported the river and harbor appropriation bill. Referred

The Committee on Indian Affairs to whom was referred the bill for the organization of a territorial government over the Indian territory reported today that they find no authority which will justify such action [illegible] on the contrary find in the treaties with the Indians occupying that country [illegible] of Congress on the subject and in the opinion of the supreme court interpreting the same much which expressly forbids the legislation proposed. The committee believe the legislation proposed in the bill unjust inexpedient unwise and that it [illegible] greatly [illegible] the soul of the [illegible] upon this and kindred movements calculated to destroy the binding force of the nation's obligations to the Indians

Dawes says unless the House passes the tariff bill the treasury will be unable to meet its demands and an extra session of Congress will be necessary.

The funeral of the late Representative Hooper took place at 2 P M. Among those occupying seats reserved for them were the President and Cabinet, Justices of the Supreme Court and members of the Senate. The services consisted of reading scripture and prayer, after which the funeral procession re-formed and the body was borne from the hall

House adjourned

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE

Tilton's Re-Examination

NEW YORK Feb 16—In the Beecher trial to-day Tilton resumed the stand and Fullerton conducted the redirect examination. Tilton testified that his object in writing the True Story was to offset Woodhull's story, and his object in showing it to certain people was to obtain their judgment there-on. Fullerton asked what occurred when witness showed the paper to Dr Storrs. Evarts objected but the Judge decided that the question could be answered and witness said Dr Storrs after reading the paper read said that before he could consult with witness or give any advice he wanted to ask if the story was the whole truth to which witness replied it was not the whole truth only the part of it he was going to give to the public. Storrs then advised witness not to publish it

Fullerton asked witness what took place before the investigating committee after the relation of his wife's confession. Evarts objected but after a long argument the court ruled that the answer might be given and witness proceeded to tell of his testimony before the committee and produced a copy of the paper he read to the committee. Evarts objected to this statement being put in evidence, another long argument ensued at the conclusion of which the court ruled that the paper could not be read nor any portion of it but if counsel desired they might offer specific points in it or the purpose of basing their objections to its ruling out

NEW YORK, Feb 16—In the Beecher trial after recess Fullerton began to read a paragraph from Tilton's statement before the committee when Evarts objected. Beach argued that the court permitted the reading of the Woodhull scandal and biography section by section to the jury, though it was ruled out as evidence therefore the reading of this paper should be permitted on the same ground. Finally Judge Neilson decided to rule the statement out. Beach took exception. Beach then said he only offered portions of the statement to be read and asked to make offer of proof. The court decided that the offer could be given. Beach then read the first portion of Tilton's statement which recites the offense of Beecher against Mrs. Tilton. The part read covered the statement of the first criminality between the parties and then the subsequent criminality up to the date of Mrs Tilton's alleged confession. The court ruled this out. Beach taking exception

A New Witness

Fullerton announced that he wished to produce a witness who wanted to return to New York city this afternoon as she was under medical treatment. The court agreed and Kate appeared and being sworn said Came from Bellevue hospital where she had been 11 weeks, was in Mrs Tilton's service about six years ago went with her to Monticello and returned with her saw Beecher go into Mrs Tilton's bedroom several times and she shut the door after him when he went in witness was in the next room which was separated from the other by folding doors. This was before Mrs Tilton went to Monticello. After her return saw her on evening in the back parlor sitting on Beecher's knee. She had her hand on his shoulder. He said How do you feel Elizabeth? She replied Dear I feel so so. Didn't see anything else. Beecher called three or four times before Mrs Tilton went to Monticello. Witness left because of some words she had with Bessie Turner

Cross examined by Evarts—Witness testified that she came to Mrs Tilton's about two weeks after the birth of her child first saw Beecher about two weeks after she went there this was the time Beecher was shown to Mrs Tilton's bedroom and the door was closed. Mrs Tilton was in bed when he came and kept him waiting until she was ready to receive him. Next saw Beecher about three weeks after returning from Monticello when she saw Mrs Tilton sitting on his knee. The chair in which he was sitting was in the corner of the room and facing the window, witness was in the dining room getting a drink of water and saw Beecher and Mrs Tilton through the open folding doors which separated the rooms. Beecher used to send Mrs Tilton baskets of beautiful flowers [illegible] around [illegible] and all the servants knew where they came from. Last Friday witness first told of having seen these things to Mrs Lawrence a benevolent lady who visits the hospital and it was through her she became a witness. Never had any trouble with Mrs Tilton or anybody in the house, except Bessie Turner. Witness was then allowed to withdraw

Tilton resumed the stand and was asked what he meant by stating before the investigating committee that to her mother Mrs Tilton [illegible] maintained her innocence. Evarts objected and an animated wrangle ensued between counsel which ended by the court allowing the question and witness answered [illegible] she always said she [illegible] would not have permitted her [illegible] into the [illegible] if they were sinful. She did not [illegible] others or [illegible] understood what was right or wrong and that Mr Beecher had told her over and over that it was only an expression of love. [illegible] all this [illegible] the court adjourned without deciding the matter

SENATOR ANDREW JOHNSON

[From the N. Y. Times]

We are not quite certain whether ex President Johnson will be altogether [illegible] by the [illegible] the [illegible] Senate [illegible] It must be admitted that the people [illegible] his honesty. He may be wounded to find that even his political friends expect that he will import into the Senate [illegible] He can never be funny as Senator Nye [illegible] nor as the witty [illegible] representative [illegible] his portentous solemnity [illegible] the earnestness [illegible] just as the late Artemus Ward laborious struggling with the intricacies of an apparent mental obfuscation was a monument of gravity though everybody else roared with laughter. Nine people out of ten when they heard the other night that Andy Johnson was elected the Senate said, Now [illegible] lively. When he was President [illegible] stirred [illegible] through a vast variety of phases of political emotion he moved with a comet-like speed that resembled nothing so much as his own sudden rise from the humble position of journeyman tailor to that of Alderman of his native village to the chief magistracy of the great Republic. In the space of a few months he outgrew the party which had elected him Vice President in another month of a year he had distanced the conservative Republicans who believed in conciliatory policy toward the conquered South and before his term was half over he stood almost alone. Deserted by his early friends and jeered at from afar by old and new enemies, he was a solitary figure seldom quiet and always interesting. When he was sworn into office as Vice President he interpolated after the phrases of the iron-clad oath as administered by Secretary Forney such declarations as I can say that with perfect propriety. When he was serenaded at the White House he called his critics dead ducks and hurled at his derision of all political [illegible] great and small

It was this quality of unexpectedness that always made President Johnson with all his willfulness an interesting figure. Wrong headed and pragmatic he might be but never! He never was intentionally fraud nor like but any form of corruption. When there was on account of [illegible] a little [illegible] misunderstanding between Johnson Stewart and Grant people declined to settle the question of veracity but President Johnson did not get the worst of the dispute. So when the ex Alderman of his native village and ex President of the United States retired to Tennessee, and the rumble of his thunder died away in the distance some sentiments of popular regret went with him. He had had a great chance at fame and had just missed it. He had been often very disagreeable, but never artificial or deceptive and when people looked back at his stormy administration resting from their laborious laughter and anxious watch they sincerely regretted that in the midst of his uncompromising heroism consideration had not like an angel come and whipped the offending Adam out of him. To be sure the Republic was too lately out of the woe and lamentation of an exhaustive war to be in humor for the solemn fun of the White House. And when the ever memorable swinging round the circle began, people wondered if the National Executive was to present to the astonished world a kind of perlitical circus. But with the easy going magnanimity of a republic all that is forgiven now, and we chiefly remember the few good traits of the ex President

Perhaps some people may think that age has withered or custom staled the infinite variety of Andy Johnson. Six years of seclusion in a Tennessee village might chasten a more turbulent spirit than his. But doubters may be reassured. In the wild din of the jollification which followed Johnson's election we recognize the somewhat aggressive voice of our ex President. We can imagine with what enjoyment he related his reminiscences of 1866 when as he says he sent that little man Sheridan into the Department of the Missouri and ordered Grant to do certain things. He says he has no personal fights to take into the Senate he will serve the people in the future as he has in the past. Exactly—as he has in the past. These spake the soul of honest redoubtable Andy Johnson. We have no fears that he will go back to Washington an infant giant a limping Ajax. He will say just what he thinks, and he has not been all along brooding over his interminable struggles with Congress without getting ready to say something worth hearing. The whirling of time has brought about a strange revenge and for our part we shall be glad to see Andrew Johnson once more in public life secure, as we are in the belief that he can do no mischief and that he intend none

LETTER FROM JOHN G. WHITTIER

AMESBURY 14th 1st Mo 1875

To the Editor of the Boston Journal: In thy paper of this morning I notice a paragraph stating that mention has been made of a letter from myself condemning the operations of the federal force in Louisiana in interfering with the legislature. I have written no letter on that subject though it is possible I may have touched upon it incidentally in a note on some other matter. In the absence of full information I have not been disposed to volunteer the publication of my opinions but that I regard governmental interference with the legislature of a State as ill advised and very dangerous is true. Perhaps some recollection of the use made of United States troops in Kansas and Massachusetts in behalf of slavery may make me more doubtful of the expediency of such a demonstration as that in Louisiana even when prompted it admit doubt [illegible] by a desire to prevent domestic violence and to protect the colored citizens of the State in the exercise of their rights. But while regretting the action of the force under [illegible] I am not at all disposed to join in the denunciations of General Sheridan which is above the suspicion of other than honest motive [illegible] as an [illegible] in his mode of procedure under the difficult circumstances of his position [illegible] or some [illegible] reason whether from a sense of his own incompetency or of the superior wisdom and statesmanship of the executive branch of the government the present Congress has seen fit to leave the President to deal with the delicate and [illegible] alone [illegible] proof of his earnestly expressed desire for its action. In the meantime the colored citizens of the State of Louisiana [illegible] to have protection [illegible] their [illegible] enemies but [illegible] friends. Left as they are between the upper mill stone of ex slaveholding arrogance and hatred and the nether one of corrupt and mercenary officials for whose conduct they are held responsible they certainly need whatever constitutional protection it is in the power of Congress to afford and the sooner it fairly takes the initiative on the subject the better it will be for the whole country and the Republican party in particular

Who does not now see what the wise statesmanship of Charles Sumner clearly discerned at the time the error of investing so hastily the revolted South with State sovereignty with [illegible] black [illegible] white [illegible] exercise [illegible] safety to themselves or [illegible] Under territorial government neither Ku Klux nor White Leagues nor the abuse of the [illegible] principle adventurers would have been possible and we should have been spared the present [illegible] State [illegible] of settling questions of [illegible] the [illegible] rebel [illegible] right of Congress to secure to Louisiana what she has not had since the rebellion a republican form of government remains

John L. Bray is expected at Empire City on the incoming steamer, with chemicals and other appliances for working auriferous black sands by the Penniman process. The machinery, which is situated upon the old Josh Wright claim has been erected under cover, and is in readiness to begin operations as soon as Mr Bray arrives. That gentleman has made a great study of black sand and says it is just as valuable for the iron it contains as for the gold. The magnetic iron is about 23 per cent, and all the finest English cutlery is made from steel forged out of it

The Record tells of a German woman who came lately to Oregon and found employment on the farm of the Looneys, on the Santiam near Jefferson and it was soon discovered in conversation that she came direct from the house of a brother of Mrs Looney the elder who resides in Illinois where she had been employed a long time. It seems that being a widow with one child, she took a fancy to come to Oregon and the coincidence is remarkable that she should travel thousands of miles to find herself transferred to the service of near relations of the same family.

The Marion county Woman Suffrage Association met at Salem last Saturday and elected officers as follows Mrs P L Price, President Mrs C M Poltz Mrs Belle W. Cooke and Mrs M A Minto, Vice Presidents Mrs A Bowman Secretary Mrs L A Demick Corresponding Secretary and Mrs E Strong Treasurer. The treasurer reported $29 50 received and $25 expended. It was suggested that the name of the society be changed so as to indicate with other things that it is a society for the mental improvement of women. And the matter was referred to a committee consisting of Mesdames England Cooke and Bowman and the society adjourned till the second Saturday p or

A letter from Gardiner to the Coos bay Record says that on the 6th ult as a man by the name of Claude Challoner, was coming down the creek a lady by the name of Mrs Murray hailed him as he was passing her residence and requested him to take her to Gardiner with him. Mr Challoner not suspecting anything wrong, took the woman to town, where he met her husband who seeing them together got a Henry rifle and followed them home and finding Challoner outside the house talking with a hired man Murray opened on him from his battery there were three shots fired from the Henry rifle by Murray the first shot taking effect in the right side below the nipple then Challoner followed Murray up and drove him into the house Murray retreating to his wife's bedroom where he fired two more shots, one taking effect in the side and one in the forearm half way between the wrist and elbow making a serious flesh wound

The Salem Record tells a joke on two men who went up to Linn county ostensibly to capture an escaped convict but really to capture a willing captive the fair daughter of a Linn county Granger. Night coming on just about the time they arrived in the neighborhood where Dulcinia lived they laid their plans in this wise. Mr C F I was to get out and muddy his boots and then call on Dulcinia's father—Mr Granger—and pretend to be very tired and seek hospitality for the night and while he was interesting the old folks, Dulcinia who was posted was to step out and into the buggy and disappear in the darkness. But alas the course of true love never did run smooth. He rapped as above stated but Mr Granger mistaking the appearance of the stranger very politely told him it was not convenient to keep him that night, bid him good night and stepped back and took up his shotgun (that he had been loading before the stranger knocked) and as he did so the daughter who was interested in this matter and had become very nervous during the interview screamed out Father don't shoot (intending him by name) don't shoot (intending out to her lover by name) run, run or he will shoot you. By this time the pup and watch dog was aroused and right after the stranger's coat tail and the dog appearing as though he was ready to make a meal of him, the screeching of the young lady and also the Granger's battery as he thought about to be brought to bear on him was an inducement for him to get away from there and he went over two fences and through a flock of sheep and disappeared across the prairie

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, 1876

U S CENTENNIAL COMMISSION
PHILADELPHIA Jan 30 1875

SIR I inclose for your information a copy of a letter which I have addressed to the governor of each of the States, and Territories. Permit me to request that so far as you have opportunity you will bring the measures therein recommended to the notice of the officials of your State and urge their adoption

Very respectfully yours,
A T GOSHORN, Director General
Hon A J DUFUR

U S CENTENNIAL COMMISSION,
PHILADELPHIA Jan 30 1875

To His Excellency, L F Grover Governor of Oregon—Sir In behalf of the United States Centennial Commission, I have the honor to direct your attention to several subjects connected with the International Exhibition of 1876 of great importance to your commonwealth and for which provision should be made this year.

It has already become manifest that a large proportion of the articles to be exhibited will be provided for in a creditable manner by the manufacturers and producers of the several States. But there remain large classes of objects whose collection is essential to a complete representation of the material and social condition of the community yet which it is not to the interest or within the power of an individual to collect. Of this description are the unwrought natural resources of the land such as its minerals, soils woods vegetation, etc. It is so largely upon their wealth in this direction that the growth of States depends, that this department of the Exhibition will be critically studied by those interested in the problems of immigration and of the investment of capital. On merely economical grounds every State would do well to provide liberally for the thorough and exhaustive representation of the actual and possible products of its soil. Another department that should be inaugurated and prepared under the auspices of the State governments is that which may be termed the historical and statistical. Unless done by official authority there will not be a complete presentation of such matters as the history of the early settlement of the State its physical features climate, geographical position government law and punishment of crime system of State and municipal taxation revenue and expenditure benevolent institutions and charities education, scientific industrial commercial, learned and religious societies agricultural and manufacturing interests the extent and effects of railroads and other means of transportation the history and growth in population and wealth of the State. All all these subjects among others ought to be so represented as to afford a summary view of the history, progress and present condition of every State. Unless this is accomplished, the Exhibition will seriously fail in that part of its purpose which contemplates a representation of the nation's growth during the first century of its existence

Official resources only are adequate to the satisfactory execution of the task thus proposed. It is hoped therefore that each of the States either by legislative action or otherwise, will adopt such measures as may be deemed necessary to empower existing organizations or agencies [illegible] to prepare an exhibition of it[illegible] resources and moral and political advancement as herein indicated. A collective representation of this character will not only be interesting as illustrating the prosperity of the country, but will also be of inestimable value for preservation in the archives of the nation as a correct history of the birth and progress of the several communities that have contributed during the century to the growth and strength of the Union of States

How far your State will participate in these suggestions is a question that I have the honor to most respectfully submit and recommend to your early consideration

Your obedient servant,
A T GOSHORN
Director General

Chicago pronounces Utah beef superior to any shipped to that market

It is predicted that in 1875 Utah will produce over $10 000,000 worth of silver

Utah has in successful operation thirty-one silver smelting furnaces four arrastras, one separating and refining works four concentrating works, and thirteen silver mills. Others might be added to this already large list this spring, and there is an inexhaustible supply of ore to keep them constantly going

The Corinne Mail informs us Great Salt Lake has frozen over to the extent of several miles, and calls it a remarkable phenomenon, the like of which has never occurred in the memory of man since the desert blossomed. No such phenomenon however is to be seen at the other end of the briny lake. It is perfectly clear of ice and vessels sail just the same as in mid summer

MINING ON THE PACIFIC COAST

[From the San Francisco Call]

Every year demonstrates more conclusively that the mining business on this coast is comparatively in its infancy. In the twenty five years that have passed since gold was discovered near Coloma the surface has been scratched in places and the richest deposits removed. But the great quartz lodes which line the interior of the State like blood veins in one's hand, are only touched in spots. Under the existing process of working, with imperfection in machinery, and waste in the precious metal after incurring all the necessary expenses to save it it was only here and there a lode could be found to pay. Gradually in later years, many of these difficulties have been overcome. The mechanical appliances for mining and milling ore have approached about as near perfection as a steam engine of the most approved pattern. Ore can now be taken from the ground at a depth of 2 000 feet as cheaply as it was raised ten years ago 300 feet. The monster mills in Nevada which reduce to pulp 200 tons per day, are as great an improvement on the mills in use ten years ago as those were upon the Mexican arastra. The only serious drawback in the natural profits of quartz mining was the large percentage of waste which no known process of amalgamation would overcome. Reports show, that the average of bullion is only about seventy per cent, of the pulp assay, involving a waste of thirty per cent. The Patchen process reduces this waste to ten per cent adding nearly twenty per cent to the proceeds of work and in most cases doubling trebling or quadrupling the net profits, the expense of working being substantially the same whether seventy per cent or ninety per cent were saved. In view of the immense mining districts being opened in different parts of this coast any improvement in the reduction of ores is of incalculable importance. The great mines of Nevada and California have made their profits on the high grade ore, which perhaps pays but a profit of from five to ten or fifteen dollars per ton. A process by which two or three dollars may be added to the net profits of working will bring hundreds of lodes into the market which are now considered hardly worth owning. To the new districts recently discovered in the southern part of the State, where lodes produce low grade ore but veins of great width any improvement in the method of working will be of great importance

Salem will send fifty barrels of flour to the Nebraska sufferers at once. The committee has fifty barrels also for Kansas but there is considerable dissatisfaction because the only response received from the agents of relief in Kansas is Keep your flour and send us money as freight cannot be had free.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1875.

A NOTABLE DEATH.

It is really too bad, but it is true nevertheless. The caucus system, adherence to which, only two years and a half ago, was, in this State, declared by the regency of the Republican party to be the ultimate and conclusive test of Republicanism, is dead. Dead in State politics, and in the management of the party at the national capital. There are conferences now, as there will always be when a large number of rational beings are called upon to act at the same time and place on the same subject matter; but the caucus as heretofore known, the caucus by which the consciences of public officers are silenced, the separate judgment of the individual surrendered and his individual responsibility taken away, lies dead. It has been stamped to death by the indignant American people. For more than a year signs of approaching dissolution have occasionally appeared, and some persons ventured to assert that the system was already beyond possible restoration and must die. But others only laughed at these, and asked them what they fed upon that they should possess such extraordinary power to read the sealed book of future events.

There are some blind partisans, no doubt, who will not admit, even now, that the odious and unrepublican system is defunct. But it is. When the register of Old Marley's burial was signed by the clergyman, the clerk, the undertaker and the chief mourner, it was considered that there was ample evidence that Old Marley was dead. But the death of the system by which men ceased to be men and became mere partisans, when they were selected to fill representative positions, is attested by more than all the parish officers.

The Republicans of the Wisconsin Legislature lately met in caucus and nominated Senator Carpenter for re-election. The caucus was very harmonious, to all appearances. At least, it was so given out after it was over—for the caucus is a secret institution, recollect. The caucus named Senator Carpenter for his own successor; but when the ballot was taken in the Legislature, behold the Republicans did not stand by the caucus nominee. There was a bolt; a bolt that was too formidable to be sneered out of existence. So, all the means known to party disciplinarians were resorted to, to quell the mutiny; but the more pressure was applied the more the mutiny grew, until one bright day, just at "high twelve," enough votes were found to elect Cameron, a new man in politics, and an independent Republican, over Carpenter, the caucus Republican nominee. Down went the caucus and the caucus candidate together. Carpenter is a very able Senator, and, with some allowance, a very good Senator; but there is much reason to hope his successor will compare favorably with him in all that is commendable, and will exhibit less that is subject to criticism. At any rate, the loss of Carpenter in the Senate is amply compensated for in the elimination of caucus rule from Wisconsin politics.

In Michigan the caucus nominated Chandler, but the Republicans bolted, and ex-Chief Justice Christiancy, an independent Republican, was elected over him.

In Minnesota the caucus nominated Ramsey; but immediately a bolt was organized, which compelled the withdrawal of the caucus candidate. And the St. Paul Press, straight Republican, and the best paper in the State, says the caucus has adjourned to meet when Gabriel's trumpet sounds.

Meanwhile circumstances arise requiring consultation among Republican leaders at Washington, and the standing caucus is called together. But there is a want of harmony, and when it is at last proposed to settle the course of the Republican members of Congress and Senators by a vote of the caucus, some walk out of the room and refuse to return, while others remain in the room and participate in the discussion, but give notice that they will not consent to be bound by the vote of the caucus. So, an adjournment is had; but at the next meeting the attendance is so slim as to make the whole thing ridiculous, the most respectable and influential members keeping aloof. Day after day the effort is renewed, and as often it fails, until finally the machine breaks down, and is allowed to pass out of mind.

And how does the caucus thrive in the Democratic organization? Not a whit better than in the Republican. In Tennessee Andrew Johnson is elected Senator, by Democratic votes, over the regular nominee of the Democratic caucus. In Florida a similar event occurs, while in West Virginia we have the counterpart of the Minnesota explosion, except that in Virginia it is the Democrats, instead of the Republicans, that go to pieces.

It is the peculiarity of some mischievous systems, especially such as are capable of being turned to advantage by the politicians, that they possess more lives than one, so that after they have been buried out of sight, they sometimes undergo a process of resurrection and resuscitation. The Inquisition, for instance, how many times it was slain! It had more lives than Plutarch. So it may be with its kindred conclave, the political caucus; but for the present, thanks to the independent press and the conscience of the people which is always correct when fully awakened, it is as dead as things of such a nature ever get to be.

SOLD.

That was a cruel joke practised on the ring organ, and we don't blame the editor very much for feeling ugly about it, though if he had kept his temper a little better the edge of the joke would have been somewhat blunted. It happened in this wise: An incorrigible wag, whose headquarters are not far from the OREGONIAN office, resolved to turn the pilfering proclivities of the ring organ to account in the way of fun, took an old copy of the OREGONIAN and pasted in the date line dates a week later, making it read "Monday, Feb. 15th" instead of "Monday, Feb. 8," and with the paper thus "fixed up" together with the genuine papers for the Sound stepped off at an early hour to the O. S. N. Co.'s dock. As usual, there were several of the Bulletin's trusties on hand watching for an opportunity to purloin an OREGONIAN in order to get its dispatches. One of these approached the individual with the OREGONIAN package and asked for a paper.

"I don't want to sell any yet," replied the man, rather carelessly.

"But," said the Bulletin's agent, thinking he was not known to the other, "I am a stranger, and am just about to leave on the steamer, and it would be a great accommodation if you would spare me a paper. I'll give you a dollar for it, rather than not get it."

"Well," said the OREGONIAN man, "my orders are not to sell, but I'll accommodate you, anyhow, seeing you are going away;" and the "fixed up" paper was exchanged for two shining silver half-dollars.

Clutching the paper, the purchaser fairly yelled with delight: "Caught you napping that time! Who's got the dispatches now, eh? Hip, hip, hurrah! Whoop-te-doodle-doo!" And with that he started for the Bulletin office at the very top of his speed.

The wag, who had with difficulty restrained himself from laughing in the face of his delighted customer, invited a friend who stood near, to go and take oysters with him, saying, "We shall see who has got the dispatches." These two took oysters together off that dollar. And there was rejoicing, for a few minutes, in the Bulletin office, after which—"our army in Flanders" was not a circumstance.

The furious article in the Bulletin about "The Paster Trick," was all the satisfaction the ring organ got out of the transaction.

SCRAPE OFF THE BARNACLES.

The Utica (N. Y.) Herald—one of the most influential, because one of the most considerate and just, of the Republican journals, still continues its frank and decided criticism of the conduct of the Government in meddling with the affairs of States that are peaceable and quiet. It says truly that the constitution and laws of the Union are the only possible objects of the fealty of the citizen, and any loyalty to men or parties, or to theories of government, that is inconsistent with loyalty to the constitution and laws, is a menace against the existence of the Republic. Nor does it stop at such general statements, pertinent though they are to the present state of affairs, but proceeds to the same point made by Vice President Wilson, that the self-constituted leaders of the Republican party are responsible for the present unfortunate condition of affairs, and that unless they are cast overboard the party itself can not survive. "The barnacles," says the Herald, "must be scraped off, or the vessel will surely founder."

ANOTHER "TRAITOR TO THE PARTY."

Another of the most docile partisan organs of the Republican household has got tainted with those infidel notions that have dethroned King Caucus and broken down some other of the unrepublican practices that fastened themselves on the party after the war. We allude to that old and respectable organ in Connecticut, the Waterbury American, which goes after the proscriptive dogmas of the party management in this style:

> It is absurd, the organ thinks, to say that only the men who stand by Grant are Republicans. Formerly there were only one kind of Republicans, because the entire party believed in Abraham Lincoln! Now there are two wings—an Administration wing, represented by Senator Howe, and a National wing, represented by Vice-President Wilson. The latter regrets that the founders of the party, Greeley, Sumner and Chase, were driven out; the former "are rabid partisans, and make haste to rule out of the party all Republicans who believe that justice is above party, and country above administration. Gen. Grant may not be criticised, and if he is criticised the same military rigor that marks his government finds means to repress the critic. Nothing but fulsome praise of everything named Republican will suit the Administration lovers. Yet these extremists are no more Republicans than Vice-President Wilson or William M. Evarts. These radical fellows are the worst enemies the party has, for the country wants honest facts to judge its rulers by, and not flattering eulogies. This undue partisanship disgusts the wiser, more considerate Republicans, and we contend that this latter class, including William Cullen Bryant and other gentlemen, is more truly Republican than the former, marshaled by office-holders and politicians."

THE ULTERIOR OBJECT.

If the New York Tribune is correct, the fine things that have been said of late about new methods of telegraphy, and about the establishment of a system of postal telegraphing, have a meaning and purpose quite different from those which appear on the surface. The object, it is asserted, is not the improvement of telegraphic communication, nor the reduction of the tariff therefor, but to bear the stock of the Western Union Company. Says the Tribune:

> The Western Union officials attach no importance whatever to the efforts which are apparently making to introduce new methods into the present system of telegraphic communication. President Orton said yesterday that it is a well-known fact among telegraph officials that the bill which has just been brought forward in Congress by General Butler is only intended to affect Western Union stock in Wall street, and that General Butler is simply playing his part in the little game for reasons well known to himself. So firmly convinced of this are the Western Union managers that they have taken no measures to delay or impede the passage of either the McCreery free transfer bill or the Butler bill. From these it would seem that speculators in telegraph stocks require manipulation and wire-pulling at Washington for the successful operation of their schemes.

In order that the readers of the Bulletin may have the benefit of the OREGONIAN's splendid dispatches, we issue—from the Bulletin office—on nearly every day, at about 10 o'clock, an extra which, out of courtesy, we call a "Bulletin Supplement." It is delivered by the Bulletin's carriers. If this should be discontinued without further notice, we hope none of the recipients will take offense.

Several of the newspapers of New York are urging the nomination of Senator Fenton as the opposition candidate for Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the death of A. F. Allen, Congressman elect from the 33d Congressional District of the State.

Bloomington, Illinois, has nine free school buildings, and their aggregate value is set down at $232,570. That is a splendid showing, certainly, for a city that has only 23,000 inhabitants.

Dame Rumor saith Senator Chandler is to succeed Jewell as Postmaster General after the 4th of March.

And so all the fuss and fury over the so-called "Press-gag Law" did not mean anything after all. This is what the Senate judiciary committee decide. A report upon a purely legal question, signed by such men as Edmunds, Conkling, Thurman and Frelinghuysen, is not likely to be very far from correct. Readers of the OREGONIAN will recollect that we took the same position at the time so much noise was making over the passage of the law. At that time we stood almost alone among the newspapers, or at least among those that came under our observation, only one—the Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph—taking the same ground; but we never had a moment's doubt that we were right. The report of these learned lawyers will probably set the question at rest.

The San Francisco Post says accounts from all sections of that State show the present spring to be an unusually early one. The dairymen of Marin county are getting as much milk from their herds as they usually do in May. In Solano county the young wheat is fully as forward as it was on the 1st of April last. Throughout the San Joaquin valley wheat is looking well and is very forward. In many parts of the State early fruit trees are breaking into blossom.

Mr. Evarts committed the mistake of assuming that Francis D. Moulton was tainted with free-love notions, and asked him to state under oath his views of the marriage relation. The answer was admirable, and it is said, told perceptibly against the questioner. Moulton answered:

> "Fidelity to your wife; your wife's fidelity to you; if you are not faithful to your wife you should be punished severely; if your wife is not faithful to you she should be punished equally severely."

Chavez, the lieutenant of the notorious Vasquez, is "depredating" about Bakersfield, California. Lately he made a raid on a country store with five other bandits, and got away with considerable property.

We are informed that Mr. O. B. Gibson will not be able to close up the business of his office so as to turn it over to Mr. Denny, his successor, till about the 1st of April.

The public debt statement for January shows that during that month the debt increased $1,297,870—from the falling off in the customs revenue.

The Call says the President's Arkansas message "may well cause surprise," and thinks it ill-advised and contrary to law.

The government has undertaken to pay $182,000 interest on the 3.65 bonds of the District of Columbia.

MATT. CARPENTER'S SUCCESSOR.

This sketch of Hon. Angus Cameron, U. S. Senator elect from Wisconsin, we take from the Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph:

> The brief sketches of the new Senator say that he is of Scotch descent, and was born in Caledonia, Livingston county, N. Y., on July 4th, 1826, being now in his forty-ninth year. He studied law in Buffalo, N. Y., came to La Crosse in 1857, and is recognized as a leading lawyer in the State. He has sat in the legislature of Wisconsin six years, and was speaker of the House in 1867. He was an old Whig, has been a Republican since the Fremont campaign, and has always been a hard money man. It is added that he is a quick and ready debater, and a man of sterling integrity; and that Carpenter's friends consider him the best possible choice next to Carpenter himself. Mr. Cameron may be classed with Mr. Christiancy, the newly elected senator from Michigan, as a Republican, although elected partly by Democratic votes; or as an "Independent Republican," we suppose, if anybody chooses to insist upon that title. The general anticipation seems to be that he will make a good senator.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 17,

CITY.

CASE TRIED.—Yesterday morning, in State circuit court, the case of State vs J DeBoest and Mrs. Anna Stromeyer was ca up for trial. As the public are well aw one of these defendants (DeBoest) was arre several months ago, charged with having co mitted the crime of rape on the person Miss Ada Harris. Mrs. Stromeyer was arrested at the same time, accused of bein confederate and accomplice of DeBoest in complishing the dishonor of the young la At the time of the arrest of these parties, also at the preliminary examination wh followed, the facts elicited from the testimo were published, and the shameless and gusting details presented in the most dec and delicate manner possible under the cumstances. A repetition of the evidenc which was substantially the same as the t yesterday as that given at the preliminary amination—is deemed unnecessary in t connection. At 9:30 o'clock, A. M., the c was called, the defendants brought into court room, and empanneling the jurors co menced. Considerable time was consumed getting a jury, for there were but few m who had not heard of the case, read the counts published and formed conclusio Before the box was filled the panel was hausted and a venire for eight additional jur issued. The following are counsel in t case: Messrs. Cronin and Effinger, for the fense; District Attorney H. Y. Thompson, sisted by C. B. Upton, for the prosecutio The following gentlemen were selected to as jurors: Isaac Levy, N. D. Gilham, J. Pangburn, Levi Knott, T. L. Harkins, D. mon, Wm. Gallagher, H. B. Oatman, Lev Love, J. B. Kellogg, Geo. Hillman, Willi Munger. In behalf of the prosecution, the f lowing witnesses were examined: Miss A Harris, Mrs. S. Young, Mrs. Harris, Har Moudy, S. W. Childs and Crawford Barre For the defense: Thomas Harris, Mrs. Smit Henry Stromeyer, Frank Gibbs, F. Cormin Dick Nicholas, Adam Loeb, L. Barman, Weinhard, J. B. Lane, N. H. Lane, P. Yot, Verstig, and P. Kiernan. All the forenoo and up to 2 o'clock P. M. was occupied hearing the testimony. More than two hou were consumed in the argument of the oppo ing counsel. C. B. Upton, Esq., opened t case in behalf of the State. He was follow by Mr. W. H. Effinger, for the defense. E. Cronin, Esq., followed Mr. Effinger, and D trict Attorney H. Y. Thompson closed the gument for the prosecution. Judge Shatt then delivered his charge to the jury, w soon after retired for deliberation. The cas as might reasonably be expected from its ch acter, attracted considerable public attentio During the progress of the trial the large co room was about half filled with witness friends of the prosecuting witness, the defen ants and spectators.

BUOYS AND BEACONS.—Since the welcom disappearance of the ice between Woody isla and Tongue point, on the Lower Columbia, the buoys and day beacons which have hereto fore served to indicate the channel at th famous "Hog's Back" have likewise disap peared. When the surface of the river co gealed the buoys were all frozen in fast, an when the ice began to move they were swe away. Strange as it may seem, not a buoy beacon at any of the several other points be tween Swan island and the "Hog's Back has been carried away or moved from the proper positions. A few days since Mr. Bu chanan was sent down to examine the co dition of the buoys since the river opene He reports everything undisturbed, and all t buoys just where they should be. The break water constructed across Pearcey's slough la summer was also inspected and found to hav sustained no damage from the floating ic This morning Mr. Buchanan will go dow the river for the purpose of replacing the lo buoys at the "Hog's Back."

FAST RIDING.—A man named J. Walch, wh resides several miles east of the city, was rested yesterday afternoon for fast riding Walch became much intoxicated, and mou ing his horse commenced to ride up and dow the principal streets at a furious pace, and als to conduct himself in a disorderly manne When remonstrated with about his conduc he became very abusive, and by way bravado rode up and down several times front of the city jail, and in the most op manner possible defied the officers to arre him. Officer Kelly, in attempting to arre the fellow, narrowly escaped being run ove Walch, however, made his escape from th clutches of that officer and rode up town. was soon after captured by Officer Haine a brought down to jail. A bottle half full whisky was found in one pocket. He w very violent and acted like an insane ma Last night he passed in the city jail, and th morning will be required to answer a char of fast driving and disorderly conduct.

JUDGE DEADY'S LECTURE.—Under the abo heading, we find the following paragraph the last number of the Eugene Journal: "O Tuesday evening last a large and appreciativ audience assembled at the Christian church listen to the eighth lecture of the Libra course, delivered by Judge Deady, of Po land, on the interesting subject of "Politi and the Pulpit." It was one of the most e tertaining lectures of the series, and fully su tained the high reputation of the Judge as chaste and thoughtful writer. At the concl sion of the lecture, C. W. Fitch, Esq., move that the Judge be requested to furnish a cop of his discourse for publication, which w heartily sustained by the audience. The ne lecture of the course has not yet been a nounced, but will occur in about three weeks

UP THE COLUMBIA.—A letter, bearing date Umatilla, Feb. 7th, was received a few da since at the office of the chief engineer, fro Capt. Randall, who is superintending the i provements on the Upper Columbia. T letter states that work has not yet been co menced at Upper Umatilla rapids in cons quence of the frozen condition of the riv At present writing the weather had grea moderated, and prospects were encouragin Capt. Smith, who had charge of the boat wh they left "Squally Hook" for the upper rapi had been heard from. All the barges we frozen in, but it was confidently hoped th the boats would be able to reach Umatilla the 20th inst. Soon after it is expected to co mence operations.

CITY TAXES.—The city tax roll is now in t hands of Mr. Lewis, the city treasurer, wh is ready at a moment's notice to furnish ta payers his autograph. The tax roll is allowe to remain in his hands only 30 days, and the expiration of that time all persons w have not paid their taxes, will be returned delinquent. Unless the common council sh see proper to extend the time longer than o month, all taxes unpaid on the 11th of Marc will be declared delinquent. Time is mone especially where the payment of taxes is i volved.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Two Chinam were arrested yesterday afternoon for larcen Ah Fow was accused of purloining $10 fro "Melican" man, and Ah Law for stealing mo than $50 from one of his unsuspecting cou trymen. Both were lodged in jail, but subs quently released, having furnished the quired bonds. Several of the principal w nesses were required to furnish bail to secu their attendance at the court. This mornin the case will come up for examination in th police court.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1875.

CITY.

CASE TRIED.—Yesterday morning, in the State circuit court, the case of State vs John DeBoest and Mrs. Anna Stromeyer was called up for trial. As the public are well aware, one of these defendants (DeBoest) was arrested several months ago, charged with having committed the crime of rape on the person of Miss Ada Harris. Mrs. Stromeyer was also arrested at the same time, accused of being a confederate and accomplice of DeBoest in accomplishing the dishonor of the young lady. At the time of the arrest of these parties, and also at the preliminary examination, which followed, the facts elicited from the testimony were published, and the shameless and disgusting details presented in the most decent and delicate manner possible under the circumstances. A repetition of the evidence—which was substantially the same at the trial yesterday as that given at the preliminary examination—is deemed unnecessary in this connection. At 9:30 o'clock, A. M., the case was called, the defendants brought into the court room, and empanneling the jurors commenced. Considerable time was consumed in getting a jury, for there were but few men who had not heard of the case, read the accounts published and formed conclusions. Before the box was filled the panel was exhausted and a venire for eight additional jurors issued. The following are counsel in the case: Messrs. Cronin and Effinger, for the defense; District Attorney H. Y. Thompson, assisted by C. B. Upton, for the prosecution. The following gentlemen were selected to act as jurors: Isaac Levy, N. D. Gilham, J. L. Pangburn, Levi Knott, T. L. Harkins, D. Smith, Wm. Gallagher, H. B. Oatman, Lewis Love, J. B. Kellogg, Geo. Hillman, William Munger. In behalf of the prosecution, the following witnesses were examined: Miss Ada Harris, Mrs. S. Young, Mrs. Harris, Harriet Moody, S. W. Childs and Crawford Barrell. For the defense: Thomas Harris, Mrs. Smith, Henry Stromeyer, Frank Gibbs, F. Cornine, Dick Nicholas, Adam Loeb, L. Barman, H. Weinhard, J. B. Lane, N. H. Lane, P. Yot, N. Verstig, and P. Kiernan. All the forenoon and up to 2 o'clock P. M. was occupied in hearing the testimony. More than two hours were consumed in the argument of the opposing counsel. C. B. Upton, Esq., opened the case in behalf of the State. He was followed by Mr. W. H. Effinger, for the defense. E. A. Cronin, Esq., followed Mr. Effinger, and District Attorney H. Y. Thompson closed the argument for the prosecution. Judge Shattuck then delivered his charge to the jury, who soon after retired for deliberation. The case, as might reasonably be expected from its character, attracted considerable public attention. During the progress of the trial the large court room was about half filled with witnesses, friends of the prosecuting witness, the defendants and spectators.

BUOYS AND BEACONS.—Since the welcome disappearance of the ice between Woody island and Tongue point, on the Lower Columbia, all the buoys and day beacons which have heretofore served to indicate the channel at the famous "Hog's Back" have likewise disappeared. When the surface of the river congealed the buoys were all frozen in fast, and when the ice began to move they were swept away. Strange as it may seem, not a buoy or beacon at any of the several other points between Swan island and the "Hog's Back" has been carried away or moved from their proper positions. A few days since Mr. Buchanan was sent down to examine the condition of the buoys since the river opened. He reports everything undisturbed, and all the buoys just where they should be. The breakwater constructed across Pearcey's slough last summer was also inspected and found to have sustained no damage from the floating ice. This morning Mr. Buchanan will go down the river for the purpose of replacing the lost buoys at the "Hog's Back."

FAST RIDING.—A man named J. Walch, who resides several miles east of the city, was arrested yesterday afternoon for fast riding. Walch became much intoxicated, and mounting his horse commenced to ride up and down the principal streets at a furious pace, and also to conduct himself in a disorderly manner. When remonstrated with about his conduct, he became very abusive, and by way of bravado rode up and down several times in front of the city jail, and in the most open manner possible defied the officers to arrest him. Officer Kelly, in attempting to arrest the fellow, narrowly escaped being run over. Walch, however, made his escape from the clutches of that officer and rode uptown. He was soon after captured by Officer Haine and brought down to jail. A bottle half full of whisky was found in one pocket. He was very violent and acted like an insane man. Last night he passed in the city jail, and this morning will be required to answer a charge of fast driving and disorderly conduct.

JUDGE DEADY'S LECTURE.—Under the above heading, we find the following paragraph in the last number of the Eugene Journal: "On Tuesday evening last a large and appreciative audience assembled at the Christian church to listen to the eighth lecture of the Library course, delivered by Judge Deady, of Portland, on the interesting subject of "Politics and the Pulpit." It was one of the most entertaining lectures of the series, and fully sustained the high reputation of the Judge as a chaste and thoughtful writer. At the conclusion of the lecture, C. W. Fitch, Esq., moved that the Judge be requested to furnish a copy of his discourse for publication, which was heartily sustained by the audience. The next lecture of the course has not yet been announced, but will occur in about three weeks."

UP THE COLUMBIA.—A letter, bearing date of Umatilla, Feb. 7th, was received a few days since, at the office of the chief engineer, from Capt. Randall, who is superintending the improvements on the Upper Columbia. The letter states that work has not yet been commenced at Upper Umatilla rapids in consequence of the frozen condition of the river. At present writing the weather had greatly moderated, and prospects were encouraging. Capt. Smith, who had charge of the boat when they left "Squally Hook" for the upper rapids, had been heard from. All the barges were frozen in, but it was confidently hoped that the boats would be able to reach Umatilla by the 20th inst. Soon after it is expected to commence operations.

CITY TAXES.—The city tax roll is now in the hands of Mr. Lewis, the city treasurer, who is ready at a moment's notice to furnish taxpayers his autograph. The tax-roll is allowed to remain in his hands only 30 days, and at the expiration of that time all persons who have not paid their taxes, will be returned as delinquent. Unless the common council shall see proper to extend the time longer than one month, all taxes unpaid on the 11th of March, will be declared delinquent. Time is money, especially where the payment of taxes is involved.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Two Chinamen were arrested yesterday afternoon for larceny. Ah Fow was accused of purloining $10 from a "Melican man," and Ah Law for stealing more than $50 from one of his unsuspecting countrymen. Both were lodged in jail, but subsequently released, having furnished the required bonds. Several of the principal witnesses were required to furnish bail to secure their attendance at the court. This morning the case will come up for examination in the police court.

REPORTS COMPLETED.—Gen. Michler informs us that after several months' labor, the report of the reconnoissance of the Skagit, Snohomish and Chehalis rivers, in Washington Territory, have all been completed and forwarded to Washington. The reports give a detailed account of the surveys made, character of the obstructions to navigation, and the estimated cost of making the necessary improvements.

ARRIVED.—The Oregon Churchman says: "We gladly and heartily welcome another fellow-laborer to our field. The Rev. Mr. Fisher arrived safely at Portland on Saturday, the 6th inst. On Sunday he preached to the profit as well as pleasure of the congregation, in Trinity Church. He is going to Olympia at once. We wish him abundance of work, and much enjoyment in doing it."

HEBREW LADIES' FAIR.

Interest in the Fair continues to increase, and receipts, naturally enough, are made to correspond. Inspired by the success of the first night, the ladies began the work of the evening and carried it out in a manner that made the men [illegible]. Good humor prevailed, however, and every lady seemed pleased with everybody else. The arguments put forth by the ladies [illegible] accompanied them and the genial smiles [illegible] visitors, and the were enough to convince the [illegible] consequence was they were led [illegible] to the sacrifice like lambs. There were no coats torn and no wrists dislocated that we are aware of. Never before did we know that we were so handsome, and that we were "such a nice, good man," "Now, do buy some candy for me;" and, "Do take a chance in this doll," and "Now, I think you are real mean not to take a chance in my sofa cushion," were some of the persuasive epithets with which we were approached. Well, what can a modest reporter do but gracefully capitulate. We gave in, and gave out after the first few investments. It is some satisfaction to say that we got an equivalent for the coin. A price was fixed upon everything by the committee, which was scrupulously maintained, and it is one of the excellent features of this fair that, instead of being higher, goods are marked lower than the prices which ordinarily prevail. Several of the booths were stripped of their wares on Monday night, but they were replenished yesterday with articles equally as good as they contained at first. The lunch was indeed a treat. The ladies who preside over the cuisine cannot be excelled in the cooking line—a fact which the several hundred patrons, as well as ourselves, can attest. Business men would patronize a lunch like that the year round. It is safe to say they will not miss a day while the Fair continues. Among those present last night we noticed a large number of our leading and wealthiest citizens. Upon a casual glance at the list of lady contributors, whose handiwork was undergoing the ordeal of a thousand eyes and as many marks of approval, we noticed evidences of an unexampled degree of mutual interest. From town and valley and irrespective of creeds, the contributions had poured in, and that all were held in just appreciation is attested by the pride the managers take in displaying everything to the best advantage and pointing out their respective merits. There are few business houses in Portland whose names do not also appear on the list, and apparently many must have selected wares from the costliest of their store.

The following articles were raffled for: A fire-screen of bead-work in carved frame, won by Mr. Isam White, who held ticket No. 28; a baby dress, won by Miss Bertha Meyer on ticket No. 7. It was nearly 12 o'clock when the night's entertainment wound up, dancing being indulged in during the last half hour.

PROTECTION AND AID TO NAVIGATION.

The following law, entitled "an act for the protection of buoys and beacons," was passed at the last session of the legislature and approved by Governor Grover on the 10th of October, 1874:

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SEC. 1. That any person or persons who shall moor any vessel or vessels of any kind or name whatsoever, or any boat, skiff, barge, scow, raft or part of a raft, to any buoy or beacon placed in the navigable waters of the State, or in any bay, river or arm of the sea bordering upon this State by the authority of the United States lighthouse board, or shall in any manner hang on with any vessel, boat, skiff, barge, scow, raft, or part of a raft, to any such buoy or beacon, or shall willfully remove, damage, or destroy any such buoy or beacon, or shall cut down, remove, damage or destroy any beacon or beacons erected on land in this State by the authority of the said United States Lighthouse Board, shall, for every such offense, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine not less than one hundred nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than one or more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 2. That one-half of all fines under this act shall be paid by the court to the informer, and that the other half shall be paid into the common school fund of the county in which the action shall be tried.

The following law was also passed at the same session of the Legislature, and approved by the chief executive of the State on the 20th of October, 1874. The act is entitled "an act concerning sites for lighthouses and other aids to navigation:"

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

SECTION 1. That whenever the United desire to acquire title to land belonging to the State and covered by the navigable waters of the United States within the limits hereof, for the site of a lighthouse, beacon or other aid to navigation, and application is made by a duly authorized agent of the United States, describing the site required for one of the purposes aforesaid, then the governor of the State is authorized and empowered to convey the title to the United States, and to cede to the said United States, jurisdiction over the same; provided, no single tract shall contain more than ten acres, and that the State shall retain concurrent jurisdiction, so far that all process, civil or criminal, issuing under the authority of the State, may be executed by the proper officers thereof upon any person or persons amenable to the same within the limits of land so ceded, in like manner and to like effect as if this act had never been passed.

A MONTANA AFFRAY.

D. M. FERGUSON SHOT IN THE HAND—MATT. WALLWORK DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED—DAVID CARTWRIGHT KILLED.

[From the Montana Northwest.]

Cartwright and Wallwork were partners in a prospecting enterprise near Emmetsburg, and had been working together for some time. They had at one time had differences, but they had been amicably adjusted. Ferguson was the friend of both, esteemed by both, and is justice of the peace of the township. On Monday last Wallwork, Ferguson and Charles Cooper had just returned from Philipsburg, and Wallwork and Cartwright happened to be in Ferguson's cabin about noon. Only the three men were present. Wallwork and Cartwright drifted into a quick quarrel (something about the prospecting claim, we learn), and both drew weapons simultaneously—Wallwork a derringer and Cartwright a navy revolver. Ferguson interposed to prevent an affray, and caught the revolver which was accidentally discharged in the scuffle, the ball passing through Ferguson's right hand, between the first and second fingers, breaking the bone of the first but not severing the tendon. The ball lodged in the door of the cabin. All three left the cabin, Ferguson going into Candee & Smith's store to have his hand dressed. While the hand was being dressed Wallwork and Cartwright came together again in the street. Frederick Grant was the only witness of the first part of the second rencontre. He says they were standing about 5 or 6 feet apart, each armed as before. Cartwright said to Wallwork two or three times, "I'll riddle you for that,"—presumably having reference to the accidental shooting of Ferguson or the remarks made in the cabin. Wallwork responded, "Commence," or words to that effect, and fired his derringer; Cartwright fired his navy about the same time. Some say the firing was simultaneous; others that Wallwork fired first. Wallwork's derringer ball entered about one inch below the center of Cartwright's breast. He fell, raised on his knees and fired two more shots and fell over on his side with a moan. Wallwork, who had received in front every ball fired from the navy, turned to walk away and again turned back, when Cartwright raised a little and fired a fourth shot, that also striking Wallwork. One barrel remained loaded. Six shots fired had each hit a man. Wallwork received one ball which lodged three inches above the right knee; one passed into and through the upper part of the right leg from the side, and two balls entered the left leg from the front, one fracturing the femoral artery (which will probably prove fatal) and one entering four inches below and to the left. Cartwright died. Wallwork has little chance of recovery. Both men were well thought of; were sober, not given to desperate deeds, and had been friendly. But both were game. Wallwork was a large, powerful man; Cartwright a small man; they quarreled, staid with the fight to the last, bitter, desperate end, with weapons that neutralized their physical inequality, and both have, probably, paid the penalty with their lives. Cartwright was a Cornishman, was about forty years of age, had been married, and has a grown son to whom he willed his considerable property, came to Montana from Colorado when Alder gulch was struck, has been in Henderson several years, and was well known and held in high esteem by many people.

RAISING FRUIT IN OREGON.

[From the Farmer.]

We lately enjoyed an interesting conversation with Mr. Frank Pyle, of California, who is experienced in all matters relating to fruit drying, making that his special business. His own interests are in California, where he has commenced planting out prunes, intending to make their cultivation a specialty. In relation to the fruit of Oregon, he freely concedes that it is superior in flavor and general excellence to similar fruit raised in California. Oregon pears and apples are not only of finer flavor and can make better product when dried, but will make more of it to the bushel than similar fruit raised in his own State. This speaks well for Oregon as a State adapted by nature to fruit raising, but Mr. Pyle does not think our future wealth in that lines is dependent on apples and pears.

The value of prunes imported from Europe into the United States, in the year 1873, we are informed, reached the value of $14,000,000. These are raised in Germany, France, and Italy, mostly. The ravages of the curculio extends through all the United States east of the Rocky Mountains, and is destructive to all varieties of fruit of the plum family, except two narrow strips of region; one in northern New York and the other near Baltimore. The production of plums and prunes is therefore hopelessly interdicted in the Eastern States, and heretofore the supply of this very desirable fruit has to come from abroad and is a great drain upon the resources of our country. As to the plum, we find it the most easy to cultivate and to secure large returns from, that we can grow in Oregon. Our own garden in this city contains trees of a number of varieties of plums that were planted by us in 1850, and have yielded more fruit to the tree than any other we have raised. The trees appear to be hardy enough, the only loss by death being when they have been neglected and have been broken to pieces with the weight of fruit on them. This winter has been the most severe known in a quarter of a century, and if the prune plum tree lives and bears this year we have no reason to question its adaption to our climate. Perhaps it is a fortunate thing for Oregon that we have weather severe enough to answer that question. While the prune may be the most valuable product, the dried plum comes next to it in value, and Mr. Pyle says, if we remember that this fruit cannot be raised elsewhere in the United States, we can rest assured that we can find a market for all we can produce and manufacture.

Many varieties of plums cannot be dried by the sun at all, but are easily made marketable by the Alden process. The product of the plum has not only a preference among consumers as to demand and price, over apples and pears, but it yields almost three times the weight to the bushel of fruit, that either of those fruits do. This taken into consideration, we can easily see that our people have an advantage in this particular that should incite them to greater activity in commencing the cultivation of plum orchards for the supply of the extraordinary demand for those products in the United States.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

Buchtel & Stolte's first class photograph gallery, established in 1853, possesses all the facilities to do better work than any other gallery in the State. All the new styles in the East are made in our rooms. We preserve ALL OUR NEGATIVES and have at present over 12,000 on hand, from which duplicate copies can be had at any time. We have engaged the services of Mr. Chas. Hasselman, late of Sarony's, in New York, and Bradley & Rulofson and G. D. Morse's, San Francisco. Oil paintings, photographs in water colors or India ink, and also the beautiful crayon pictures, executed in a superior style. Call and examine specimens.

The rivers are again open and business is looking up. Alive to the necessities of the times, BECK & WALDMAN have made a liberal reduction in the price of dress suits, etc., in fact to suit all tastes. They can outfit the youth of this broad land with nobby suits, which will certainly please the [illegible]. The stock is large and no one need go without fitting goods if they only make a careful inspection of their display. Morning, noon or night, they are prepared to do justice to their customers. The old place, Washington and Front streets.

In order to fill up his stock, Mr. JOSEPH KOHN will leave shortly for San Francisco for the purpose of making a personal selection of Spring Goods. Mr. K. has had many years experience and knows exactly the wants of the trade. In this connection, it is well to say that the stock of clothing, furnishing goods, etc., at present in store, is fully as large as can be seen at any establishment of the kind on the Northern coast. He can accommodate you now both as to quality of goods, and prices. Call to-day at his place, opposite National Bank.

Mineral Remedies Superseded.

All, except those who refuse to be convinced by the most positive proof, admit the infinite superiority of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to the mineral remedies which it has to a very great extent superseded, and which, it is to be hoped, for the sake of the human stomach, may eventually be abandoned altogether. The Bitters are a most potent corrective of disorders of the liver, stomach and kidneys. Habitual constipation, dyspepsia, bowel complaints, and the numerous and changeful symptoms which indicate internal weakness or disease, are in every instance not only relieved, but cured, by a persistent and systematic use of this sovereign remedy. Intermittent and bilious remittent fevers may be surely prevented by a daily use of this powerful but pleasant and mild tonic. Physical vigor is the best armor in which to encounter disease. Secure it by recourse to the Bitters.

SET HIM BACK.

Going home a few evenings since a resident of Cass street heard the voice of a boy in a stable, and looking through a broken window he saw a lad about ten years old reading to a group composed of half-a-dozen boys of about the same age.

"Now, isn't this nice?" chuckled the gentleman to himself; "these boys, crowded out of school, are still determined to secure an education!"

He took another look through the window, and then placed his ear to the broken pane and heard the boy read:

"If the person who deals makes a misdeal, the cards may lie on the table only with the consent of all—"

"Gracious!" exclaimed the citizen as he sprung away from the window, "that boy's reading from 'Hoyle.'"—Detroit Free Press.

James Lloyd Greene, recently nominated for governor of Connecticut by the Republican party, was once a student of Yale, although he graduated at Harvard. His stay at Yale was terminated after he had been there a year or so in a manner thus related in the New Haven Palladium: "One day one of the tutors captured one of the street 'gamins' near the Athenæum and took him to one of the recitation rooms. The students who happened to be near by 'stumped' some one to open the recitation room door and see what was going on. Greene accepted the challenge and opened the door. He saw the tutor whipping the little boy, and it made him so mad that he sung out: 'That's damned mean—to take a boy of that size. He hasn't any friends.' The speaker soon found that he himself hadn't any friends, at least in the college faculty, for he was suspended. He never would come back, but went to Harvard and graduated there."

A RISKY ADVENTURE.

CROSSING THE NIAGARA RIVER ON AN ICE BRIDGE.

An Oswego paper is permitted to make public the following extract from a private letter from Niagara:

"Many have never seen the beauties of the Niagara in winter. The wonders it presents in summer are far beyond adequate description. Those of winter, if they do not surpass the summer, present new and varied aspects equally beyond adequate description. Among these may be mentioned the ice formations, particularly the ice-bridge. The river above the Falls freezes over generally several times during the winter, but a sudden rise in the river, which frequently occurs from a south-west wind or other cause, breaks up the ice and carries it down the river from above, and sometimes from Lake Erie, in immense quantities.

"During the very cold weather of last week ice formed across the river nearly all the way from the Falls to Buffalo and probably for some distance out of Buffalo Harbor. This was during north and east winds, which made the water very low. The first of this week strong winds from the south-west raised the river several feet below the Falls—the rise was fully twelve feet—and broke up all the ice, sending it down over the Falls in immense quantities. The river below was actually full of it, and, after running a while, it became choked just below the upper bridge, and holding nearly all that came afterward it soon formed a bridge half a mile along the river from twenty to fifty feet thick.

"Tuesday morning a number of persons gathered in Prospect Park to see the ice formations, which were magnificent and brilliant beyond description. The spray had frozen on the twigs and branches of the trees, so that they formed almost a mass of powdered crystals, branches occasionally breaking with the weight. Charles Bierstadt was there on the look-out for views for pictures. He could, of course, point out the finest views. A friend attached himself to him for the purpose of getting in the best position to appreciate the wonderful scene. He soon led the way down the ferry-stair to the foot of the American Fall. Here the ice-mounds were piled half way up the fall. These were easily climbed and passed. In front of the main fall the bridge had formed across the river. The bridge was new, and there had been no design to cross.

"Mr. Bierstadt led the way nearly to the center of the river and up to one hundred feet of the face of the fall, and then concluded to attempt to cross. His companions here, of course, became impressed with an interest not wholly inspired by the wonderful magnificence of the spectacle. The bridge was formed of ice-cakes not frozen together, but piled up into a vast mass, and each side of the shore appeared about equally distant.

"Absorbed with the scene, he had hardly noticed their progress until they reached the middle of the river. There was nothing to do but to follow Bierstadt. The sun was shining brightly, and it was quite warm there in the gorge when quite cold on the cliff. The bridge was very rough, having been joined gradually by blocked ice. In some places there were breaks and fissures that they could look down into fifteen feet. The last half of the passage was hastened by the frequent sounds of the cracking and crushing of the ice—in fact, it was as rapid as the rough, broken surface would permit. They were met a little distance out by the ferryman's boy and dog. This quieted the residue of the passage.

"It was the first trip over and likely the last for some time, for hardly had they reached the top of the cliff, when the crushing and grinding process had become evident over the whole mass, in a few minutes the whole began to move. The noise of the cracking was like thunder; the edges were ground to powder, and blocks were heaved up into little mountains. The broken masses were carried rapidly into the whirlpool, where the whirling, crushing, grinding process was carried on in a wonderful manner."

ALFONSO XII.—ENTHUSIASM IN MADRID.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Daily News, writing about the proclamation of Alfonso XII. in Madrid, says:

"In England, it is a work of time to get up anything in the way of decoration for grand occasions, and the facades of the houses in our streets do not give much scope for the display of emblems of rejoicing. Here in Madrid it is altogether different. Almost every house is of great height, and has any number of balconies on each floor. These are covered with gay cloths, and present a most cheerful appearance. The palaces of the nobility are decked with velvet, and the arms of the owners are worked on the center of each covered balcony. Most of the grandees have a marvellous number of titles. One house I observed had twenty-four balconies, on each of which was a different coat and coronet.

"This multiplication of titles is somewhat confusing, and must at times be a source of inconvenience to the bearers. The Duke of Albuquerque, who married the widowed Duchess of Morny, is better known by his title of Duke of Sesto, but better still as Marquis of Alcanices. The Dukes of Medina Celi and Vista Hermosa have also by intermarriages brought into their families a wonderful collection of titles. Their arms would be a delight and puzzle to any student of heraldry. One of these noblemen gratified the public by hanging over the front of his palace a series of some of the finest pieces of tapestry to be met with. His opposite neighbor, the Duke of Vista Hermosa, has the largest number of windows in his mansion of any house in Madrid. Indeed, he occupies the entire side of a street. Each window has been lighted up with gas since the pronunciamento was made, and with the Cortes adjoining (the whole outline of which building is one mass of light) has an excellent effect. The finest coup d'œil is to be obtained in the Puerta del Sol, which is of a fan shape. Standing at the Ministry of the Interior, so many streets branch out from it in all directions, that the innumerable lights in the balconies which meet the eye form a very pleasing sight. Of course all the Government buildings are a mass of decoration by day, and a blaze of light by night, but it is astonishing to find the number of private houses which share in the general appearance of rejoicing. Even out of the principal streets the same thing is to be noticed everywhere, down to the poorest neighborhoods, where scarcely a house is without some sign. Any one would have supposed that the important event was known to all Madrid as likely to happen on a certain day, so suddenly and spontaneously did the trappings make their appearance. No order was issued, and if one had been, I doubt much if it would have been carried out in so hearty a manner."

The Helena Herald says: "From present indications, we feel encouraged in anticipating for next season the most prosperous times that have ever been known in Helena. The amount of building that is already arranged for would of itself give employment to a great number of mechanics and laborers, and as a consequence place a large amount of money in general circulation; but besides these, there will be a great many buildings erected, of which we have no report at present."

There is more activity in mines in Utah at present than at any time since 1870, and all classes of business men in Salt Lake anticipate the busiest season ever witnessed in the Territory.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

The Liverpool wheat market was still reported declining at last advices. Average California cargoes for prompt shipment were quoted at 8s 9d per cental. California average, ex-warehouse, 9s 2d@9s 5d, and 9s 6d@10s per cental for club. Oregon not quoted but commands highest rates.

In local business circles there is a fair degree of activity, which has been continued so far during the week. The monetary situation does not seem to change any from day to day, and with a fair supply of available funds in bank and some loans offering by outside parties, there is also a pretty general complaint that the circulating capital of the community is growing inconveniently small, and that the people at large are handling less money than usual. This state of things is accounted for on the ground that trade of all kinds has been at almost a stand still for more than a month past, and but few improvements are in progress in the country. So while our State has the resources, and the capital to develop them, her progress is slow and her people oppressed with dull times. Almost every individual has his own ideas of the cause of this condition of affairs and of the remedy for it. Chief among the causes is assigned the lack of railroad connection with the East direct, and the recent news of the defeat in Congress of Oregon's hopes in this regard has had a depressing effect on the minds of the people here, which is quite manifest.

Any dullness in commercial matters which Oregon may now be suffering is not exceptional, and if the adage, "Misery loves company," afforded consolation, we might reflect that the same complaint comes from many other sections of the Union.

A New York commercial letter of latest mail dates states there has been no general activity in trade circles, yet there has been a market improvement over the past month, and in dry goods a decidedly active demand has sprung up in cotton goods in nearly all of which there has been an advance occasioned by the usual increase of demand at this season together with a continued and somewhat increasing scarcity occasioned by the short water supply for running the mills throughout New England. This tendency to rather better values is still rather noticeable, while the prospective demand is still better.

Grain and Provision Report.

The exports from leading seaboard ports in the United States during the week ending February 4, include 4,8[illegible] barrels of pork, 6,617,000 pounds of lard, 10,424,000 pounds of bacon, 58,781 barrels of flour, 3[illegible],600 bushels of wheat, 518,000 bushels of corn.

The amount of grain in sight in the States and Canada, Jan. 25, 1875: Wheat, 11,910,39[illegible] bushels; corn, 5,305,027 bushels; oats, 2,469,030 bushels; barley, 1,850,751 bushels; rye, 179,884 bushels.

Milwaukee warehouses, at the close of business on Jan. 30 contained 1,652,036 bushels of wheat, 55,502 bushels of corn, 72,624 bushels of oats, 13,640 bushels of rye, 145,761 bushels of barley, 25,220 bushels of malt.

Chicago elevators at the commencement of business, Feb. 1st, contained 3,429,768 bushels of wheat, 1,554,987 bushels of corn, 544,175 bushels of oats, 14,500 bushels of rye, and 292,395 bushels of barley, making a grand total of 5,856,731 bushels, against 5,469,567 bushels one week before, and 5,1[illegible]2,877 at the same period last year.

The amount of grain on board vessels in the Chicago harbor, Feb. 4, was 167,579 bushels of wheat, and 98,007 of corn.

The stock of mess pork in Chicago on Jan. 30th was 119,250 barrels, and the stock of lard at the same time was 40,033 tierces, and of flour 51,000 barrels.

During the month of January the receipts of hogs in Chicago were 508,857 head, and the average weight was 261 pounds.

The packing of hogs in Chicago from Nov. 1st to date foots up 1,350,000 head.

The Chicago Journal, of the 4th inst., says: "The heavy clearings, yesterday, were the largest ever known in this city, which amounted to $9,650,000—about $2,000,000 more than ever before, and which, according to the St. Louis mode of reckoning, would amount to $19,200,000."

Tonnage and Wheat Prospects.

Under this head yesterday a slip of the pen made us responsible for the following:

"There are now at this port vessels with an aggregate carrying capacity of near ten thousand tons, while those loading here and at Astoria will carry at least ten thousand tons more. It is not believed that we had in the State on the 1st of this month more than 40,000 tons wheat and flour over the amount required for consumption."

It should have read "there are now due at this port," etc. The word "home" was also erroneously omitted before the last word in the above paragraph.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax is advertised to sail for San Francisco at 10 A. M. on Thursday.

The bark Rival is receiving cargo for San Francisco, and will have quick dispatch. She took on a lot of Oswego pig iron to-day.

The Gussie Telfair will sail for Sitka and intermediate ports on Saturday.

The wheat vessels Muriel and Windward will go down the river in a day or two, with their cargoes nearly complete.

The cargo of the ship Parsee is all at Astoria and that vessel will soon be loaded.

The Clara R. Sutil is nearly loaded at Knappton. The Architect is on the berth there.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Arrived—Ship James Cheston, Port Gamble; bark Amethyst, Bellingham Bay; ship Shirley, Tacoma; bark General Cobb, Seabeck; schooner Parallel, Coos Bay; schooner Annie, Yeddo; steamer Alaska, Hongkong via Yokohama; bark Camosot, Tacoma; schooner Twilight, Coos Bay.

Sailed—Schooner Bobolink, Umpqua; schooner Carl Meden, Shoalwater Bay; Br. ship Ellen Goudy, Queenstown; ship Two Brothers, Manila; ship Sumner, Manila.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Flour—Extra, $5@5 25.

Wheat—Choice milling, $1 60; good, $1 55; shipping, $1 50@1 52½.

Barley—Feed, $1 40@1 50; brewing, $1 60@1 65.

Oats—Medium, $1 70; choice, $1 80@1 85.

Corn—Small, $1 60.

Hay—$10@17.

Potatoes—Ordinary to good, $1 65@1 80; choice, $1 85.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—In this staple product there is not at present the least amount of speculation known in this market for some time. Up to and during the time of the freeze exporters were buying quite largely; and stocks in the mean time accumulated, so that there was scarcely storage room. These stocks are being rapidly depleted by the vessels here and at Astoria loading for Europe and San Francisco. When these vessels are loaded there will not be much of a surplus in this market, though shippers still have some very considerable lots awaiting transportation from the interior. There are now comparatively but few purchases being made, though all good wheat offering at $1 37½ ⅌ cental is taken by two or three exporters while others refuse to quote higher than $1 35.

FLOUR—The receipts from several of our state mills are large, and heavy invoices are going forward to the vessels at Astoria, to Puget Sound ports and to San Francisco. Prices have varied but little for weeks, the quotations for jobbing rates being still at $4 50 ⅌ barrel for standard extras, $4 50@5 25 for good outside brands, and $3 50@3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There is an apparent tendency toward a decline owing to the report of full supplies in the San Francisco market, and slightly increased receipts here. We quote good bright to choice lots, in sacks at $1 8[illegible] ⅌ bushel.

BARLEY—There are but few transactions to note or to fix prices. Quotations include common feed to choice brewing and are furnished at $1 30@1 45, the latter only for the best.

FEED—Trade is not reported active, and prices are still furnished at $25@27 50 per ton for middlings, bran $[illegible], chop $25@27 50, shorts $2[illegible], oil cake $30.

HAY—No change in prices since last week, the supply is full for the current demand; good timothy quotable at $1[illegible]@12 50 per ton.

POTATOES—The receipts are larger than last week and prices are slightly down, jobbing rate for good qualities 1¼c ⅌ lb, without sacks.

ONIONS—No transactions; nominally quotable at $1@1 37½ ⅌ 100 lbs.

LARD—We quote a good article in kegs at 13c; 12½c ⅌ lb; ditto in tins, 12½@13c.

BUTTER—A choice article in demand for the local trade and commands 35@40c ⅌ lb, but it must be the best. Common lots in brine, [illegible]; solid, [illegible]; inferior, 22@25c.

EGGS—The receipts are insufficient to supply the home trade, and some lots have been sold to-day at 40cts. per dozen, but shippers are not buying, the local consumption taking that offer.

APPLES, RIPE—There are now but few choice varieties in the market, which are quotable at 75c@$1 ⅌ box.

APPLES, DRIED—The demand is dull at 4½@5c ⅌ lb in sacks, and 5@6c in kegs.

BACON—In common with some other products, this commodity is manifesting a slightly downward tendency, sides being now quotable at 11@12c ⅌ lb, shoulders 8@9½c, hams 13@15c. The supply is very full.

CHICKENS—For a few days past there has been a good demand for fair to choice lots, and such are quotable at $4@4 50 ⅌ dozen. The receipts to-day are above the average for the week.

DRESSED HOGS—The demand is still fair at prices not changed since our last reports.

BEEF CATTLE—There is a stronger feeling on the part of holders on the ground of supposed losses in Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. But few transactions noted—mostly at 4 cents ⅌ lb net on foot.

MUTTON SHEEP—There are very few lots offering, and choice are worth $3 25@3 75 per head, and some at the extreme of $4.

HIDES AND FURS—A quieter demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16½c ⅌ lb, green salted, 7½c, green [illegible]; calfs, 10@12c; elk, 12c ⅌ lb; deer, [illegible]; [illegible] dried, and [illegible] apiece green; mink skins, each, $1@1 50; otter, $2@4; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—In this staple there are comparatively few transactions to note. Prices are unchanged, ranging from 25@30c for good to choice.

CITY ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ordinance No. 1501.

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE TIME and manner of improving the East half of Front street between Morrison and Salmon Streets.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The proposed improvement of that part of the East half of Front street lying between the centers of Morrison and Salmon streets, shall be completed as hereinafter provided on or before the first day of March, 1875.

Section 2. That portion of the street on which the sidewalk is to be laid shall be cleared of planks or other obstructions (sidewalks of the proper width and grade excepted.) If the obstructions are not removed by the owners of the adjacent property within three days after notice, they shall be removed by and become the property of the contractor.

Section 3. The improvement shall consist of laying sidewalks twelve feet in width with suitable foundations according to a plan on file in the Auditor's office, marked "Plan of constructing sidewalks on the East side of Front street."

Section 4. The work to be done and materials furnished shall correspond with the provisions of and under the restrictions contained in sections 7, 11 and 12 of Ordinance No. 79[illegible], entitled "an Ordinance in relation to the improvement of streets."

Section 5. The contractor shall take entire charge of the work during its progress, and shall be responsible for any loss or accident resulting from carelessness or neglect.

Section 6. The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized to advertise for receive proposals and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders for the improvement specified in this Ordinance.

Section 7. The improvement shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Superintendent of Streets.

Passed the Common Council February 2, 1875.

W. S. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved February 2, 1875.

HENRY FAILING,
Mayor.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

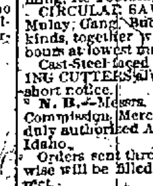
MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE

NEW REMEDIES: NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY ST., COR. COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Diseases of years standing, Ulcerated Legs, etc., cured.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at the pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and the broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians and friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fœtid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania, and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, let them apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who can prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has run, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Post-office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957. REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN.
